

Artist: Donna Mendes

Douglas-fir - Pseudotsuga menziesii

Coloured by: _____

This widespread “fake” fir (really a pine) withstands fire well and is used as a home for woodpeckers and other birds. Cooking grills and sweat lodges can be made from branches which also have medicinal qualities. Legend tells that mice escaping Napi ran into the cones and we see their backends sticking out to this day.

wildsight
Golden
Please visit:

www.wildsight.ca/plantawareness

Art transposed to graphics by:
Sarah Jane Osadetz Art & Design